The Honorable Judges of the Superior Court
Municipal Court and Justice Court
The Honorable Board of Supervisors
Santa Barbara Juvenile Justice Commission
Santa Barbara Delinquency Prevention Commission

Pursuant to Section 1203.1 of the California Penal Code, I am pleased to submit the Santa Barbara County Probation Department's annual report for 1978.

As you are aware, I was not associated with the Department during 1978, and therefore I am reporting on and about activities I was not on hand to experience.

1978 was an unusually difficult year for all members of this Department. The reality of Proposition 13 required the lay-off or demotion of twenty-nine (29) staff members. The trauma of that process took an enormous toll on Department morale both for those directly and indirectly affected.

The impact on those terminated or demoted is obvious. The less obvious, and yet nearly as traumatic impact on the remaining staff is still being sorted out and resolved. Because we are staffed with a very competent and professional people, solid effort was directed toward providing quality services to the Court and our community.

This past year also brought the resignation of Chief Probation Officer, Bill Johnson, who accepted the position of Deputy Chief Probation Officer for the County of Los Angeles. Changes of the magnitude experienced during 1978 create a climate of uncertainty. As a Department we are making excellent progress toward stability and balance.

ADULT SERVICES

ADULT SERVICES

By: Carolyn Taylor Zimmerman

In 1978, the Adult Services Officers met the challenge of dealing with an increasing workload in spite of diminishing finances. In July, 1978 -- after the passage of Proposition 13 -- the Board of Supervisors approved a Probation Department budget with a 12½% cut over the prior fiscal year's budget. During the calendar year of 1977, an average of approximately 673 investigations per month were completed. In 1978, the average escalated to about 962 investigations per month -- an increase of approximately 43%. During the calendar year of 1977, the monthly mean of adult cases under the supervision of the Probation Department was approximately 6,038 cases. In 1978, the monthly mean was approximately 6,943 adult cases, an increase of about 15%.

A primary means of dealing with increasing supervision caseloads has been an extended utilization of the bank or central caseload. In the calendar year of 1977, a monthly mean of about 1,498 cases were in the central caseload. In 1978, the monthly mean escalated to approximately 6,943 cases, an increase of about 105%.

Another way of meeting the challenge of 1978 has been to provide fewer direct client services. Supervision Officers in 1978 relied more heavily upon other public and private agencies to provide services to clients and referred clients to those agencies when appropriate. Those defendants who need intensive supervision and/or regular narcotics testing continue to be referred to the Special Supervision Unit. There are currently two officers, one in North County and one in South County, who exclusively handle adult offenders.

Two new programs were initiated in 1978 to service those clients who are on probation for drunk driving and/or in need of alcohol information and counseling. It should be noted that drunk driving offenses comprised approximately 18% of the supervision caseload in 1978.

On June 1, 1978, the Drinking Driver Program (DDP) became effective County-wide. This program was created by the passage of Senate Bill 38 which became effective on January 1, 1978. Although the DDP must conform to State-mandated guidelines under the supervision of the State Office of Alcoholism, the County program is totally dependent upon client fees. The County Project Coordinator is Ron Sanchez of County Alcoholism Services. Santa Maria Span, Inc., is the exclusive provider in the North County and is the provider for South County English speaking clients. South County Spanish-speaking clients are serviced by Zona Seca.

The DDP is available to all individuals who are in jeopardy of losing a driver's license as the result of a drunk driving offense and who have at least one prior conviction. The DDP is a post-conviction program of one year duration in which the defendant agrees to participate as a term and condition of probation. The program consists of lectures, small discussion groups, and individual sessions. The defendant must promise to participate in all program activities, to pay the program fees, and to maintain sobriety. Advantages to the client are the retention of his/her driver's license in lieu of suspension or revocation. The Court may also consider not ordering jail time and may reduce the fine. The program staff also assist the defendant with personal problems.

On July 1, 1978, the Alcohol Awareness Program (AAP) was created under the auspices of Santa Maria Span, Inc. At present, the program is operative in Santa Maria only. Clients may be directly referred by the Probation Officer or the defendant may be ordered by the Court, as a term and condition of probation, to complete the program. The defendant need not be on probation for drunk driving. The program is 5 months in duration and consists of an 8-week Alcohol Education Class, approximately 12 individual and group counseling sessions, and required attendance at 16 Alcoholics Awareness meetings. The majority of AAP funding is through County Alcoholism Services and through revenue sharing monies. Funds are also obtained through private donations and client fees.

CENTRAL CASELOAD AND O.R. PROGRAM

By: Larry Dunham

It is customary for a person, when arrested, to have to pay the entire bail or to pay a bail bondsman in order to be released from jail. However, people may also be released on their own recognizance (O.R.) -- their word or pledge that they will appear in Court as directed.

The Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department has an O.R. Program. If a local resident is arrested on a misdemeanor, does not have any warrants, and appears trustworthy, he may be released (sometimes called a cite-release). People, who have not already been released by posting bail or receiving a cite-release, detained on a warrant or charged with capital crimes, are interviewed by the Probation Department "O.R. Unit".

After the interview, the Sheriff's files are checked as well as the CLETS, probation records, and references are contacted. Thereafter, the person is evaluated by the Probation Officer and a Municipal Court Judge is contacted for approval/denial.

From July 1, 1978, to July 1, 1979, the Probation Department conducted 1612 O.R. interviews of which 605 people were released O.R., 73 had their bail lowered and 5 had their bail raised. Coverage of 7 days a week is made possible by volunteers. They participate in interviews, reference checks and follow-up statistical record scheduling. Because of their help the Department has been able to manage with only one full-time and one half-time Probation Officer.

The established Bank caseload, which serves those probationers who have met their conditions of probation, and which do not require further active supervision, was renamed the "Central Caseload" during the year of 1978. The bulk of the caseload continues to be convictions for Driving Under the Influence of Alcohol.

The Central Caseload expanded greatly during the year of 1978, and the increase of procedural duties required a staff of two clerical positions and three Probation Officers. The criteria used for screening cases coming into the Central Caseload remained the same, with an increase in the number of violation reports to Court required, due to the volume of cases.

JUVENILE PROBATION SERVICES

By: James Crow

1978 was another year of continued change for Juvenile Probation Services. Two of the three juvenile units plus Special Supervision moved to different locations. Due to Proposition 13, we suffered some deletions and consolidations, but overall, we had a good, constructive year.

The Santa Maria Juvenile Probation Unit was comprised of one Supervising Probation Officer, one Deputy Probation Officer III, and six Deputy Probation Officers II. The Unit is organized by function, with each officer assigned one or more specific functions. There were two Deputies who were assigned to Intake and Investigation, one Officer was assigned as Court Hearing Officer, one to a combination of traffic, sealings, and some intake, and another to Civil investigations. The Santa Maria Unit utilized the Cal Poly intern program, using two students during the year.

Proposition 13 affected this Unit by deleting the Delinquency Prevention Officer. A program under that Officer, the Truancy Control program, with a full-time CETA worker working in the Santa Maria schools and showing some favorable results, was also deleted because of Proposition 13.

The most notable change in the Santa Maria Juvenile Unit was its new location at the old County Hospital, which is extremely suitable and is centrally located in the Santa Maria area.

The Lompoc Unit was responsible for both Juvenile and Adult Division casework. One full-time Deputy Officer was deleted due to Proposition 13, leaving a total of nine Deputy Probation Officers (including two Deputy Probation Officer III's), plus a supervisor for the Unit. Four Deputy Probation Officers handle juvenile casework on a full-time basis and two officers handle a combination of adult and juvenile cases. One Officer in the unit is located in Solvang. All Deputy Probation Officers in the Juvenile Division perform intake, investigation, supervision, and Court Hearing Officer duties. Several Deputy Probation Officers in the Unit were appointed as Traffic Hearing Officers and heard juvenile traffic cases. Juvenile Work Programs in Lompoc and Solvang were functioning during the past year. The programs were operated by Officers in the Unit and by a half-time Probation Officer position handling North County work programs.

Los Prietos Boys' Camp Family Group Counseling Program, run jointly by Los Prietos Boys' Camp staff and Deputy Probation Officers in the Lompoc Unit, for minors under commitment to Los Prietos Boys' Camp and their parents, continued throughout the year; however, participation by Officers in the counseling program ceased in July due to reduced staffing.

The Special Supervision was consolidated from one unit in South County and one-half unit in North County, including both juvenile and adult services, to one unit for the complete County on July 1, 1978. This was due to a conversion from the former State subsidy to AB-90 Subvention. Under the AB-90 grant, a pre/post-release program was established for Wards committed to Los Prietos Boys' Camp. This involved intensive supervision prior to and for approximately thirty days after release to assist the minors' transition back into the community.

The juvenile portion of Special Supervision consists of a Supervisor (who supervises an adult component of the project), two Deputy Probation Officers II, who supervise both minors under commitment to Los Prietos Boys' Camp and minors in other extra-parental placements excluding foster homes. One officer handles North County Wards and the other, South County Wards. Also included under the Juvenile Special Supervision were two half-time County Work Project coordinators, one for South County and one for North County.

Further major reorganization of Santa Barbara Juvenile Units was accomplished in 1978. There were two units in 1977 which in 1978 were reorganized to form one unit under one Supervising Probation Officer, with two Probation Officers III and nine Deputy Probation Officers II. The Unit continued with its regionalized caseload with a partner system (Officers covering each others' caseloads on their days off duty). The Unit continued with each Officer handling intake, investigation, and supervision functions. Also included in the Unit were a Court Hearing Officer and a Traffic Hearing Officer.

The complete Juvenile Unit is now located at the Juvenile Hall complex. This has made for a much improved and more efficient system with the Court, Juvenile Probation, District Attorney, and Public Defender all at the same location.

INSTITUTIONAL SERVICES

By: Kim Stephens

The administrative responsibility for the Department's Institutional Services was reassigned from a single Division Chief to separate Division Chiefs for the North and South County, each supervising field services and institutions in the respective area. Responsibility for the six institutions is divided between the two, the North County Division Chief supervising Psychological Services, Santa Maria Juvenile Hall, and the three Counseling and Education Centers. The South County Division Chief is responsible for Santa Barbara Juvenile Hall and Los Prietos Boys' Camp.

The Department continues to contract bedspace for status offenders in non-secure detention facilities located in Santa Barbara and Santa Maria. While Social Advocates for Youth previously provided this service in Santa Barbara, Klein Bottle now operates in both North and South County. San Luis Obispo County continues its contractual use of both Santa Barbara County Juvenile Halls and Los Prietos Boys' Camp. However, the Ventura County contract for bedspace at Los Prietos Boys' Camp has been terminated.

Juvenile Halls:

Both the North and South County juvenile facilities continue to be responsible for the safe and secure detention of minors, as well as providing space for Juvenile Court and County Schools. Juvenile Hall makes the initial intake decisions relative to detention/release on a 24-hour, 7 day-a-week basis. A large number of detainees have been routinely transferred from the 20-bed Santa Maria facility to Santa Barbara Juvenile Hall, where extra space is available. During 1978 the play yard at Santa Maria Hall was enlarged and a grassy area added. Also during 1978 some of the Deputy Probation Officers had the opportunity to work in the Juvenile Halls due to post-Proposition 13 lay offs. All institution staff who were laid off at that time were later given the opportunity to be re-hired. Both Juvenile Halls continue the behavior modification program, which is designed to motivate positive behavior by the minors. The co-educational approach in both the units and the school program also continues.

	Number of Commitments, 1978	Total No. of Minors Admitted	ADA	ALS	Most Frequent Reason For Detention

Santa Maria Juvenile Hall Capacity - 20	158	927	16.14	6.5	1. Burglary 2. Assault 3. Auto Theft

Los Prietos Boys' Camp:

The Los Prietos Boys' Camp continues to serve 14 to 17-year-old boys as a 24-hour correctional/treatment program in a semi-remote area near Lake Cachuma. The school program is personal in nature, and allows the students to work at a reasonable pace in pursuing their studies, as well as providing the opportunity to earn a high school diploma. Camp also utilizes a behavior modification approach in attempting to reinforce positive behavior. Generally, Los Prietos Boys' Camp is a six month program, although the term may be lengthened or shortened depending upon a minor's participation in the program. Participation in CIF sports was discontinued in 1978. Family group counseling for minors and their parents continued both in and out of Camp. The vocational training program is ongoing, also utilizing out of Camp work sites with the Forestry Service.

Counseling and Education Centers:

The Counseling and Education Centers operate Monday through Friday, 8:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M., providing a co-educational program for Wards of the Juvenile Court who have committed law offenses, and reside in their own home, or in a foster home. The daily emphasis is on improving educational skills, with individual and group counseling provided by Probation staff. Field trips are frequently scheduled to generate interest in the program.

TRAINING

By: Marilyn Rapanut

The Training Division is responsible for a wide variety of projects encompassing all areas of probation work. Six of the major projects undertaken in 1978 are as follows:

1. Juvenile Court Officer training which involved all juvenile officers.

2. A brief write-up describing all Juvenile and Adult Probation services.

3. Guidelines for the "Volunteers in Probation" program.

4. Guidelines for the Juvenile Traffic Hearing Officer and Juvenile Traffic Clerk.

5. Guidelines for the Own Recognizance/Bail Reduction Project.

6. Guidelines for the responsibilities and duties of the clerical staff.

Much of the final products resulted from line input to the Administrative Staff.

The Training Division also provides notification to all staff regarding opportunities for in-service training programs, as well as workshops from outside resources. There were approximately 24 such programs in 1978. An additional on-going responsibility is the dissemination of information regarding new legislation and the resulting changes in policies and procedures, as well as updating of forms used in all phases of probation and institutions services.

It is anticipated that the use of training programs sponsored by outside resources will be expanded considerably, as a result of 90% funding from the Foundation for Continuing Education in Corrections.
